

PRIVACY POLICY

This Privacy policy, along with our Conditions, is used by StaLLix Group Ltd. (btcgoal.com service) for processing and use of your Personal information. As it is mentioned in this Privacy policy, btcgoal.com belongs to the company "StaLLix Group Ltd.", including, without any limits, the owners, directors, investors, employees or other relating parties. Depending on the context of "BTCGoal" it can also refer to services, products, websites, by the contents or the other materials, represented by BTCGoal.

Personal information belongs to information, which identifies the person, and includes the following: name, address, e-mail address, trade information and bank details. "Personal information" doesn't include the anonymized data which doesn't identify a certain user. BTCGoal seeks to protect and respect your private life.

Privacy policy defines:

Work with Personal information, which we collect and the way it can be used;

Our use of cookies and similar technologies;

As well as why we can disclose your Personal information to the third parties;

Transfer of your Personal information

Your right to get access, to correct, update and remove the Personal information;

Security measures, which we use to protect and prevent loss, misuse or change of Personal information.

Use of personal information which you provide directly to us when you open the Account of BTCGoal or carry out any transactions on the Platform Contact information, such as name, home address and the e-mail address.

Data on an account, such as user name and password. Financial information, such as numbers of bank accounts or PayPal data or bitcoin account.

Information Details (identity check) ID, passport, national identity card or driving license.

Note: Residents of the USA can be asked to provide Numbers of Social insurance.

Information on check of a residence, such as details of the Account for utilities or similar information.

We also automatically collect data about the computer or the device providing information when you get access to the BTCGoal website or use BTCGoal Services. This information is also attached to a database to provide statistical data on actions and models of viewing from our users. This information can include: Contact information, such as name, home address and e-mail address.

Data on an account, such as user name and password.

Information on identity check, such as your images (selfie photo), ID photo, passports, national identity card or driving license.

Use of COOKIES. Site BTCGoal uses cookies. Cookies are small text files which are placed in your computer by websites which you visit. They are widely used to force websites work, or to work more effectively and also to provide information to owners of the site. As a rule, they are stored on the hard drive of your computer. We use information collected from cookies to estimate efficiency of our Site, to analyse tendencies and to operate the Service. With this knowledge, we can improve quality of work of the Service.

We use Personal information only for those purpose (es) for which it was provided to us. The e-mail address which you enter, can be used to provide information and the updatings connected with your use of BTCGoal Services. Sometimes we can also report news of the company, updatings, and the relevant information concerning similar products and the services provided to BTCGoal. If you don't want to receive marketing advertizing from us, please, contact us.

Transfer of personal data to the third parties is possible only in the following cases:

We can share part of your Personal information with third-party service providers who help carrying out business operations. Your information won't be sold, exchanged or provided to any third parties without your obvious consent. At acceptance of our Conditions of use, you agree to disclosure of your Personal information as it is described in this Privacy policy. Not personally identified information for visitors can be provided to the third parties for marketing, advertizing or other use. We can share your Personal information to the authorities of data security, government bodies and other authorities: At the compelled summons, the resolution of court or other legal proceedings. We believe that disclosure is necessary to prevent physical harm or money losses. Disclosure is necessary to report about the suspected illegal activity including the cases when receiving inquiry from PayPal system.

External websites. You agree that we aren't responsible for information provided on External Websites, including, but without being limited, contents of websites, advertising, blogs, statements, prices, services, losses, failures or problems caused or connected as a result of visiting those sites. You should take into consideration all risks connected with use of external websites. External Websites have separate and independent conditions of use and the corresponding policy. We ask you to read the security policy, rules, conditions and instructions of each site, which you visit. You should decide if you want to take security measures or not. External Websites have a separate and independent privacy policy. We seek to protect integrity of our site and welcome any information on the third-party sites providing information about BTCGoal.

Access rights to personal information. You have right to get access to your Personal information to correct, update, and block inexact and/or wrong data. To carry out this right, contact us to support@BTCGoal.com. BTCGoal will respond to your request only when it corresponds to our Conditions of use and other legal and regulating obligations.

Safety of personal information. We use a set of security measures to guarantee confidentiality of your Personal information and for protection of your Personal information against loss, theft, unauthorized access, misuse, change or destruction. These security measures include, but don't limit:

The reference books and databases protected by the password.

The Secure Sockets Layered (SSL) technology to guarantee that your information is completely ciphpered and sent reliably through the Internet.

PCI to protect our servers from hackers.

Information on solvency is transmitted through the SSL technology and ciphered in our database. The access to your personal information is allowed only for the authorized personnel of BTCGoal and the personnel is obliged to consider information as extra confidential. Security measures will be regularly considered in the light of new technologies and corresponding legal and technical development.

Storage of personal information. We store Personal information for so long, as it is necessary to fulfill the purposes described in this Privacy policy according to our own legal and regulating obligations. According to obligations of maintaining the account, we store the Account and other Personal information within at least five years after the Account is closed.

Updatings. Privacy policy can be reconsidered, changed, updated and/or added at any time, without the previous notice, at own discretion of BTCGoal. When we make changes to this Privacy policy, we will notify all users of our website and we will make the corrected Privacy policy available on our website.